

Seeder-EP 'All That It Takes'

Electrifying Sydney groove rock trio, delivers their much anticipated 3 song EP. Seeder is Mic.Hardwick (vocals/guitar), Dave Blennerhassett (bass/vocals), and Gene Maynard (drums/vocals), Their distinctive sound combines the raw energy of rock with layers of infectious groove. With influences ranging from Cream, David Bowie, Pink Floyd and Cake, Seeder draws from a rich tapestry of musical roots. Fans have likened their indie rock sound to Franz Ferdinand and Talking Heads. Crafted around the powerful songwriting of vocalist Mic. Hardwick, this release extracts the darker, more introspective tracks from the upcoming album, "Slipping in the Groove."

"In a world filled with chaos and indifference, 'All That it Takes' encourages listeners to rise against evil and take action," says Hardwick. "We believe that music has the power to drive positive transformation, and this EP serves as a call to action for everyone to stand up and make a difference."

The focus track 'All that it Takes' is a musical dose of radical hope, an antidote to the daily media storm of global chaos and human suffering that leaves people feeling powerless and overwhelmed. Drums and bass provide a driving rhythmic punctuation, and the echoes of SOS in the melody conjure building urgency, a slow compelling surge for change. Eerily distorted lead guitar, with sparse clear vocal harmonies counterbalance the track's anthemic call to action. An edgy blend of hard groove rock.
